

JONATHAN RANGEL
IP Litigation Manager
jrangel@dumont.com.mx

Jonathan joined Dumont in July 2012 as an Intellectual Property lawyer and today he is the leader of the IP Litigation Team.

Jonathan's professional practice focuses on protection of intellectual property rights, particularly trademarks, patents and copyrights. Other aspects of his practice include counseling on IP contracts, general IP matters, licensing, well-known and famous brands, sports law, administrative law and constitutional law. Jonathan also represents clients in Alternative Dispute Resolution Proceedings at the World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO).

As IP Litigation Manager, Jonathan is responsible for managing company-sponsored litigation. His international clients are market leaders in the pharmaceutical, consumer health care, household appliances, clothing, furniture, and food and beverages sectors. Jonathan has written and published numerous articles and essays on various subjects.

He is an active member of various professional national and international organizations, such as the Asociacion Mexicana para la Proteccion de la Propiedad Intelectual, (AMPPI), the International Trademark Association (INTA) and the Pharmaceutical Trade Marks Group (PTMG).

Languages: Spanish and English.

Published Articles:

"Madrid System: local knowledge is best"

"Tax implications for foreign IP owners in Mexico Managing Intellectual Property"

"Legal standing in México"